AN EXCURSION

On Saturday Last Over the Bellaire and South Western Narrow Gauge-On Saturday last a number of invited guests from this city, Bridgeport and Bellaire made an excursion over the Bellaire field, 21 miles from Bellaire. Among those from Wheeling were James Dalzell, Esq., Prof. Robert Dalzell, of the Wooster, O., University, L.S. Delaplain, Esq., and grandson Louis, Deacon E. J. Stone, Jacob Thomas and Mr. Faris, of the Register. Among those from Bridgeport were E. P. Rhodes, Esq., Captain Andy Baggs and Warren Hollister, Esq., while from Bellaire were Col.

Sullivan, Col. Poorman, Col. Morris and Mr. Strong, of the C. & P. railroad, Mr.
Anderson. of the Independent, Jacob Heatherington, Esq., and Uncle Billy Barnard. In all there were about 50 persons of the two cars constituting the train, the expedition being in personal charge of President Mooney.

One of the cars, a gondola, fitted up with an awning over it (the sides being left open) and plentifully supplied with chairs, was the favorite car on the part of those who desired plenty of air and a good view of the country. At 10:30 A. M. the train left the famous State Tobacco Warenouse depot, having in the lead the piotrain left the famous State Tobacco Warehouse depot, having in the lead the pioneer locomotive of the line—the Woodsfield—which has not missed a day in its nearly two years service. And this reference to its long service reminds us that the Bellaire and Southwestern road has not had a mushroom growth by any means, but has progressed slowly and somewhat painfally as far as it has been built. Its experience, however, in this particular, is one of many instances of the same kind. The great New York Central road was built slowly and by piecemeal, under half a dozen different names. It is now nearly two years since the B. & S.W. road was built to Wegee, and about four years since it was organized as a company. According to all appearances, however, it According to all appearances, however, it has acquired an accelerated motion that will carry it through to Woodsfield, to which place it is graded, during this which place it is graded, during this present year.

There are twenty stations on the road from Bellaire to Armstrong's Mills, including those two points. They are as follows: Belmont, Pultney, River View, Gravelton, Wegee, Dillie's Road, Mapleton, Ervins, Durfee, Shiloh, North Gap, Pipe Greek, Grand View, Sullivan, Oakland, Glenn Falls, Rock Valley, North Bend and Armstrong's Mills. These stations are, of course, close together, two miles being the longest distance between any two of them, and some of them being only half a mile apart. In addition, the cars stop anywhere, wherever the train is hailed. The B. &S. W. is a model local road in this respect. It makes its money this way, and just now it is making a good deal of it, we are glad to say. Its receipts are averaging $50 per day, while its runare averaging $50 per day, while its running expenses are but $7. On the 4th of July its receipts were $500. At every step of its progress its earnings have increased, and by the time it reaches Woods-

The Charleston Courier publishes the particulars of the hauging by mob law of the negro Mort Lee, who committed the rape on Mrs. Settle, of Kanawha Falls. There were over a thousand persons engaged in it as witnesses and participants. The train was boarded at Coal Valley, on its way from Huntington, and the negro taken from the custody of the Sheriff and excursionists across to see the wonderful rock. They were taken over; half a dozen at a load, to the extent of about two-thirds of the whole number. We observed that those who had been there before did not go this time. Next time we will be among those who have been there before, and will imitate their example. We like to visit rocks that are at least as accessible as the crags among which the wild chamois of the Alps pick their way, but when it comes to exploring glens down which the mountain torrent rushes "tumultuous-y to the sea," and then leaving this rocky and slippery and very romantic and somewhat damp exploration for a perpendicular ascent up a primeval forma-tion of the tertiary period, there will have to be something more than a rock at the to be something more than a rock at the end of the tertiary period, there will have to be something more than a rock at the end of the trip to compensate us. Next time we will take our seat on the grassy banks of the placid Captina alongside of our friend Col. Morris, and put in the time looking at that spirit photograph that appears mysteriously through a small aperture in his knife handle, and thus enjoy ourselves while the genial Col. practices with his revolver on some small shoat disporting themselves in the stream on the further shore, under the impression that they are wild ducks.

At a little after six o'clock in the evening the train returned safe and sound to Bellaire, and everybody, as they alighted from the cars, united in saying that they had a very delightful excursion, and in wishing the Bellaire and Southwestern Narrow Gauge all sorts of good luck in the future.

LETTER FROM A LADY.

A West Virginia Wo STREATOR, ILLS., July 10, 1879. Editors Intelligencer:

wheat it remarks as follows:

"The accounts from all parts of the West regarding corn are decidedly favorable. The weather in this vicinity is of that forcing character—damp and hot—which is so disagreeable in Clinicinnati, but which fairly makes the corn jump, in a few days, from a puny, sickly infant to a proud, healthy maturity, with a tassle in its cap, surmounting its suit of emerald verdure and ready to put forth its strength in the production of golden grain. The prospects have vastly improved in this State and in Kentucky during the past week, and similar conditions are reported.

of the West.

The yield of winter wheat this season is a disappointment to farmers generally, but it is one which they can bear without but it is one which they can bear without exercising an unusual amount of fortitude. They expected at first that the crop would be a failure; then that they would get a half a crop, and when the harvest commenced they thought it might be an average yield, say 20 bushels to the acre, but, on threshing, it proves to be far more. Some fields in Indiana are turning out 60 bushels per acre, but this is exceptional. Many crops in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana go at 30 to 40 bushels, and it is seldom that one falls below 20 bushels per acre. Not only is the yield very large, but the quality is unusually good. Kentucky has considerable smutty wheat, but the quality otherwise is excellent, and the smut can all be taken out, so that it does not greatly impair its value. A much larger proportion of this crop than usual will grade No. 2. We might almost say that when properly cleaned all of it will be up to that grade. If other sections of the country have done as well we have the largest and best winter, wheat crop known in the history of the trade.

Which should be given to nervous, slender and debilitated persons—Invigorate! Sedatives, opiates, appetizers, are comparatively useless. The system must be built up with a genuine tonic in order to the recovery of vigor and tranquilitity by the nerves. A oburse, systematically pursued, of the leading invigorant, Hostetter's stomach Bitters, should be resorted to by those who suffer from weak nerves and general debility. The stomach, always more or less dyspeptic in cases of nervousness and loss of vitality, is toned and regulated by this medicine until the organ acts with a precision akin to that of a steady-going piece of mechanism. Complete digestion and assimimechanism. Complete digestion and assimilation are, through the influence of the Bitters, followed by a gain of vigor and flesh, and the disappearance of billossness and irregularity of the bowels, where such exist, as they usually do. Appetite and aleep are then regained
